Search Continues For More Bodies; Over 700 Injured

UDALL, Kan., May 26 (AP)—Tornadoes twisting through four midcontinent states killed 103, left more than 700 injured and ran property damage into the millions.

The deadly twisters started in Texas Wednesday night and were still threatening Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri late today.

The storms left 67 dead in Kansas, 20 in Oklahoma, 15 in Texas and 1 in Missouri.

Russia Agrees To Top-Level Big 4 Meeting

MOSCOW, May 26 (AP)—The Soviet Union agreed formally today to a top-level meeting of the Big Four. But it said the United States' attitude toward the summit meeting threatens to worsen rather than improve international relations.

Notes handed the Western ambassadors — with special sections directed only to Britain and France — indicated the U.S.S.R. would object violently to any attempt to discuss the status of the Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

Moscow suggested Vienna as the most convenient place, with the time to be negotiated by the four powers. French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay has mentioned July 18-21. The Western powers take the stand that Vienna is unsatisfactory so long as occupation troops remain in Austria, and want the meeting held in Switzerland or Sweden.

American Proposals

The Soviet note apparently envisioned a conference of President Eisenhower, Premier Bulganin and the British and French premiers on broad generalities. It said the meeting should aim at "the lessening of international tension and the strengthening of confidence among nations."

But, the Russians added, declarations by United States officials reflect "a desire to exert inadmissible pressure on the conference" and to discredit the idea of a conference in advance. The note asserted:

"The said officials went so far as to mention the necessity of interference in the internal affairs of other states, making attacks on the People's Democracies (East European Communist states) which are defending the freedom of their people."

"It is quite clear that such attempts at interference, which are incompatible with the United Nations charter, should be rejected as exposing the aggressive plans of certain circles aiming at the further intensification of the arms race and increasing international tension."

Broad Generalities

(In his May 18 television report Secretary of State Dulles said the conference might set up some new processes toward a solution of problems such as reunification of Germany, limitation of armaments, atomic weapons, "the problem of the satellite countries, the problem created by the international communism which is such a pest all around the world.")

Basil O'Connor Selected As Father Of Year

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was named "Father of the Year" today by the National Father's Day committee.

The committee described O'Connor as "the architect of the battle against polio" that resulted in development of the Salk vaccine.

Eden's Conservatives Score Decisive Victory

Gain Of More Than 50 Seats Is Indicated

LONDON, Friday, May 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden and the Conservative party scored a smashing victory in yesterday's election.

They won a new five-year term with an indicated House of Commons majority of 50 or more seats, against the scant 17-seat margin they had in the last Parliament.

Concedes Defeat

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the opposition Labor party, conceded the party's defeat at 3:35 a. m. today.

The voters dealt a severe blow to Clement Attlee's Labor forces, who won the popular vote in the 1951 election but lost out in the tabulation of House of Commons seats. This time the Conservatives ran ahead in popular vote, as well.

The result is a vote of confidence for Eden on the eve of four-power talks, where he will represent Britain.

The electors plumped for free enterprise conservatism and rejected the Labor party call for another whirl at state socialism.

May Reach 70

When counting stopped for the night the Conservatives had scored a net gain of 10 House of Commons seats, with good prospects of winding up with an over-all majority of perhaps 50 to 60. Conservative officials confidently spoke of a 70-seat majority.

The election was for 630 seats in the House of Commons.

Returns from 357 districts gave the Conservatives 176 seats, the Laborites 179 and the Liberals 2.

The Conservatives had victory in sight because most districts which will report later today are strongholds of that party, and because of the trend in popular voting.

Returns from 350 districts gave this popular vote:

Conservatives, 7,444,472 — 49.68 per cent.

Labor, 7,159,855 — 47.78 per cent.

Liberals, 283,736 — 1.89 per cent.

Others, 97,183 — .65 per cent.

Eden's own majority shot up to 13,466, compared with 9,805 in 1951.

Sir Winston Churchill also won handily in his own Woodford district, defeating a Laborite 25,069 to 9,621.

Governor Meyner Late For Speech, Finds Hall Empty

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 26 (AP)—An empty hall greeted Gov. Robert B. Meyner when he arrived this noon for a speech at a Lions Club convention. The Lions, expecting him earlier, were out to lunch.

The busy governor was flown down from the state capital at Trenton in a single-engine National Guard plane. He flew back 52 minutes later, carrying his undelivered speech with him.

The round-trip flight covered about 120 miles.

Meyner was scheduled to speak to the convention of Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Lions at 11 a. m.

Young Gains Support

ALBANY, N. Y., May 26 (AP)—Robert R. Young's New York Central Railroad regime received overwhelming support today at a turbulent annual shareholders' meeting.

The President told a recent news conference he was not satisfied with the results of the program and favored amending the law.

Wind-Whipped Flames Raze Large Barn, Shed On Judge Rhodes' Property; Men Save Sheep

Fire destroyed a large barn and shed at the Summer home of Superior Court Judge Chester H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg RD 3, yesterday afternoon.

An unofficial estimate of damages was $10,000 or more. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The blaze was discovered at about 1:30 p. m. by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beneski, of Sciota. The Beneskis were driving toward Stroudsburg when they saw smoke coming from the direction of the Rhodes Summer home.

They drove to the farm, about a half mile off Route 209. When the Beneskis arrived there the shed was nearly burned down.

Firemen hooked up lines and tried to stop the spread of the flames, but high winds whipped the blaze through the barn quickly. The volunteers stayed at the scene of the fire until nearly 6 p. m. to make sure sparks did not spread the blaze to the house across the road or to nearby woods.

Several pieces of equipment which had been stored in the barn were lost in the blaze. So was a station wagon owned by Mueller which had been parked in the shed.

No accurate estimate of complete damage can be made until after a more thorough investigation of the ruins, Kitchen said last night.

Beneski located the caretaker, Howard Mueller and turned in an alarm to the Saylorburg exchange telephone operator.

Beneski and Mueller opened the door to the barn and herded a group of sheep out of the smoke-filled structure to safety. Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co. firemen arrived on the scene a short time later.

When firemen arrived the shed was "completely burned to the ground," company Chief George Kitchen said, and the barn had caught fire. The two buildings stood a few feet apart.

Five Companies Accept Revised Testing Formula

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Five of the six drug companies licensed to make Salk polio vaccine accepted the government's revised manufacturing and testing standards today, and Dr. Jonas Salk declared, "the picture is most hopeful."

Salk, the University of Pittsburgh scientist who developed the vaccine, said he was unable to say how soon the nationwide program to immunize school children against infantile paralysis would be resumed.

But he added the "fog is lifting" on the whole vaccine situation.

The program is getting back on the track, he told a news conference held at the National Institutes of Health. "It will be back on the track when the vaccine begins to be released" again.

One Holdout

The only company which has not accepted the government's new proposals is the Pitman-Moore Co. of Zionsville, Ind. Its president, Kenneth F. Valentine, contended the new tests will mean considerably more work without assuring a safer vaccine.

Salk told newsmen the revision production standards "are not really new standards . . . The fine print is spelled out more."

"We are using the same standards, but we are plugging all the loopholes which might conceivably be present," he said.

Vaccine makers agree, however, that the revision may bring a delay of from one to several weeks in getting fresh supplies of the Salk vaccine to state clinics.

Important Development

Salk said "the most important thing that has happened" since the vaccine program became stalled is the formation of a panel of scientists to act as a clearance committee for the vaccine at the production stage. Salk is a member of this group.

He said the panel already had conferred with three of the licensed manufacturers and would confer with the rest tonight.

"In going over the situation with the individual companies I was extremely pleased," Salk reported. "I feel that when they submit their protocols regarding safety tests made on their vaccine it is likely that there will be little holdup, if any at all."

These companies have agreed to continue production of the vaccine under the new rules; Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit; Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.; Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa., and Sharp & Dohme, Philadelphia.

Reason for Revision

An impelling force behind official demands for revised standards in the fact that some children have come down with polio after having received their inoculations. There have been five deaths.

The latest Public Health Service report today listed 94 post-inoculation cases of polio—60 in persons who received the Cutter product, 23 among those who received the Lilly product, 10 among Wyeth inoculations and 1 among those of Parke-Davis. About six million children have received shots.

Increasing cloudiness and mild today, high 66-72. Not as cool tonight with showers beginning early Saturday. Saturday warm and humid with showers and scattered thunderstorms.

Leader Aims At Keeping Assembly Busy

HARRISBURG, May 25 (AP)—Gov. Leader today spoke out against an extended summer recess of the Legislature "or anything else that will delay enactments of the administration program."

"If you've got a job to do you ought to do it regardless of the weather or vacations," the governor said.

He told his weekly news conference, when asked for his thoughts on a summer recess, "Down on the farm we work through the summer. I don't think the legislators are any better than those who labor on the farm."

Leave In Mid-June

Rep. Albert S. Readinger, House Democratic leader, has maintained the House, at least, will be forced to leave Harrisburg between mid-June and the end of October because of the lack of hotel rooms due to scheduled conventions in the capital city.

"I think, however, the House has been moving along very well and will have passed the greater part of the administration program in several weeks," Leader declared. The House is controlled by Democrats and the Senate by Republicans.

The governor added, "There is a possibility that his (Readinger's) attitude (on a recess) may very well be justified." He explained the floor leader may be thinking of having most of the administration program passed through the House before the proposed recess.

Expects Tax Vote

On the administration's tax program, the governor anticipates a vote in the House "before very long." He pointed out it probably will be delayed until after hearings are finished on the proposed record budget.

Russia Sorry, Tito Is Told

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 26 (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev told President Tito today the Soviet Union is "sincerely sorry" about the 1948 expulsion of Yugoslavia from the Cominform. He blamed "enemies of the people," including Lavrenty P. Beria, Joseph Stalin's head policeman.

Khrushchev voiced his apology on arriving here for reconciliation talks. He appealed for establishment of relations between Communist parties of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia on a basis of trust and confidence, and said the Russian visit to Belgrade is intended to clear up all outstanding questions between the two countries.

"We sincerely regret what has happened and resolutely repudiate everything that has accumulated during that period," Khrushchev said.

Tito stood smiling as Khrushchev spoke in Russian for 15 minutes. Tito made no response, even though the Russians appeared to expect one.

Khrushchev is Communist party chief in the Soviet Union. Although he holds no official position in the Moscow government, he was first of the plane, ahead of Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan, a trade expert. Khrushchev was the only speaker at the airport.

THE HIGHWAY IS NO PLACE TO FLY!

"Speed is for the birds" say many experienced drivers, "particularly on crowded holiday roads." Last year, for instance, a surprising number of adult drivers forgot to act their age. Result: they helped make Memorial Day 1954 the last day on earth for 362 people—an unforgettable day for 12,500 injured! And it could happen again. Remember, expert drivers don't "kid" in traffic.

Senate Probing Security System

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—A Senate Civil Service subcommittee today formally opened an investigation into complaints of "injustices under the security system."

It didn't get very far the first day, adjourning until June 2, but it did disclose it had called on several government departments "for the entire personnel and security files" of some of their employees.

Widow Gets $53,602

HARRISBURG, May 26 (AP)—State retirement board approval was given today for a lump sum payment of $53,602 to the widow of Frederick P. Gelder, former chairman of the State Liquor Control Board who died last month.

Pistol-Shotgun Duel

UNIONTOWN, May 26 (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Copeland, 55, and Louis Poole, 60, matched pistol versus shotgun today in a four-blast duel at nearby Republic, police reported. Poole was killed. Mrs. Copeland was shot twice in the abdomen.

Eisenhower Asks Congress To Liberalize Refugee Act

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower will ask Congress tomorrow to liberalize the law authorizing entry into the United States of 214,000 refugees.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen today the President will propose 10 amendments to the law in a special message.

Operation of the law has been under attack from several quarters. Edward J. Corsi of New York said he was fired from the State Department as an adviser on immigration programs after he tried to have the operation of the act changed.

While Hagerty declined to give any details of the President's message in advance, he told a questioner its purpose is to seek liberalization of the act.

The law was passed two years ago and permits admittance of 214,000 refugees in the three-year period ending Dec. 31, 1956. About 22,000 visas have been issued during the first 22 months of the program, but only about 1,600 refugees have been admitted as of last month.

The President told a recent news conference he was not satisfied with the results of the program and favored amending the law.

Shrimp Fishing Film Shown To Rotary Club

A CLOSE-UP of the shrimp industry originates from Gulf of Mexico ports in Louisiana and Mississippi was given members of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday by a Department of Interior film entitled "Shrimp, Please."

Stroudsburg's stake in the shrimp industry stems from the fact that since 1929 the Stroudsburg Engine Works has furnished thousands of winches for thousands of boats to lift shrimp catches and equipment in and out of the boats.

Shrimp fishing, according to the film, includes the colorful blessing of the fleet each year, catching and exploratory fishing, freezing, processing and canning shrimp.

Nets Drag Gulf Floor

The shrimp are caught in nets with mouths 125 feet across. The mouth is kept open by corks at the top and lead at the bottom. They are dragged on the floor of the gulf for about two hours before they are raised, boated and the catch is counted.

Shrimp was pictured in the film as a delicacy accepted all over the world. Modern processing and freezing makes this wide distribution possible.

J. Albert Groner, partner with his father, James Groner in Stroudsburg Engine Works, provided the film.

Harvey Miller To Enter Navy Next Month

A NEW SLOGAN—"Careers Unlimited"—is being used for the U. S. Navy recruiting drive now being started in Monroe County.

According to Chief John Shirley, recruiter at the Stroudsburg Naval Recruiting Office, "Careers Unlimited" is a program designed to show young men eligible for Naval service the opportunities awaiting them.

Right now, Shirley said, there are openings available in more than 60 different ratings in the Navy. Applications are being accepted for this drive throughout the month of June, he said.

Miller To Graduate

One local student—Harvey Miller, 227 S. Crystal St., East Stroudsburg—has already signed up in the program, has had his final physical and will be sworn into the Navy on June 20 in Philadelphia. Miller is a member of the current graduating class at East Stroudsburg High School.

Chief Shirley said yesterday that this program should be of special interest to the new high school graduate since the Navy offers training in more than 1,100 specialized job fields.

The recruiter urged all young men interested in enlistment to contact the recruiting station in the Stroudsburg post office building as soon as possible. The office is open each Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Argentine Catholics Told To Pray

BUENOS AIRES, May 26 (AP)—A Roman Catholic bishop called on Argentine Catholics today to keep their faith at the risk of their lives. He proclaimed next Saturday a "prayer and sacrifice day."

Bishop Alfonso Maria Buteler of Mendoza, in western Argentina at the foothills of the Andes, issued his proclamation at Mass as new tension gripped the country in the church-state dispute. After the Mass a crowd of worshippers started to march on the pro-government newspaper La Libertad, but police broke up the demonstration and made many arrests.

Police and hose-swinging firemen dispersed shouting Catholic marchers yesterday at several places. Many of the marchers shouted: "Christ yes, another no!" This was an obvious reference to the campaign by President Peron's to end Roman Catholicism's favored status as the state church.

Windfall Tax Repealer Voted

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The Senate today quickly passed a bill repealing two sections of the 1954 omnibus Tax Revision Law. Some lawmakers have said the sections might give corporations a five billion dollar windfall.

The repeal now goes back to the House for consideration of a minor Senate amendment.

Allegheny Corp. Ruling Reaffirmed

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today affirmed a previous ruling that Allegheny Corp. is essentially a railroad holding company which would continue under its supervision.

The action rejected a suggestion advanced by the Securities and Exchange Commission that some sort of joint control of Allegheny's activities by ICC and SEC might be worked out. SEC contends that Allegheny is largely a general investment company whose operations should be brought again under the Investment Company Act.

Official Vote Count Shows No Change In Election Results

Tabulation Of Totals Corrected

OFFICIAL RETURNS from the May 17 primary showed no changes in the outcome of races for county post nominations on party tickets. Several totals were changed. These, however, had no effect on the results of the election. All the changes occurred in tabulation of totals for Democratic nominees.

Monroe County Sheriff Jacob Altemose led the Democratic ticket with 3,137 votes in the primary. Altemose is also chairman of the county committee.

Detlef A. Hansen, Democratic nominee for district attorney, won the nomination with 2,677 votes. Floyd Butz, register of wills and recorder of deeds, polled 2,613 votes in his campaign for renomination.

Remaining Races

Hansen was unopposed for the nomination. Butz' opponent was Raymond Allegor who polled 493 votes in the election.

Voting for other Democratic party candidates, according to the official count, was as follows: For prothonotary—N. Henry Fenner polled 2,272 votes; for County auditor—Mahlon Besecker had 2,535 votes; Doris Smith polled 2,191.

In the race for the county commissioners' nominations, in which two were to be elected, John Lesoine led the field with 2,121 votes. His fellow nominee, Willard Quick, polled 1,632.

Other candidates for the party nomination for county commission were John Reinhardt who ended up with 391 votes; Edward Doran who polled 1,433 and Harold Albert who had 1,415.

One GOP Contest

Only one GOP post aroused much interest or competition. This was for the party nomination for register and recorder. There were three candidates here.

The winner, Edward Post, polled 851 votes in the election. George L. Smith, now chief assessor of the county, got 712 votes while Harry Taylor, county commission chief clerk, polled 578 votes in the race.

Other totals shown by the official tally were the following:

Victor Henning, candidate for sheriff—1,878 votes; James Gould, candidate for prothonotary and clerk of courts—1,769; Elmer D. Christine, district attorney—1,821; for county commissioner; Amzi Altemose—1,737; W. Adolph Rake, 1,675; for county auditor: Mrs. Mary Emma Teeter Garcia—1,563; John Wernett—1,580.

Short Story Analyzed By Writers

THE POCONO Writers Workshop, in session Wednesday night at the home of the president, John Price, heard a comprehensive report on the recent session of a writers' group in the Lehigh Valley. The report was given by Mrs. Joseph Kushner, secretary, who reviewed practical suggestions to writers brought out in the cabinet discussions.

Much attention was given to the construction of the short story and a number was submitted by one of the women members for general criticism. The writer had taken an old favorite subject of fiction, the reunion of a group of college classmates after the passage of 20 years and the opinion of the hearers was that she had brought an unusual treatment to the theme and that it had charming characterization.

At each meeting, the group analyzes at least one piece of work produced by a member.

Truck Driver Experiences Tight Squeeze

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 26 (AP)—Walter Jacobs experienced one of the most nerve-racking 10 minutes in his truck-driving career yesterday.

Jacobs was quoted by state police Cpl. Lawrence Craft that he and his big tractor-trailer were crowded off U. S. 60, east of here. The rig veered over an eight-foot embankment alongside the New York Central Railroad tracks. A long coal train was rumbling past. The cab of the tractor-trailer leaned against the side of the train so that it scraped the passing coal hoppers.

Jacobs fell into the narrow space between his truck and the rails. As he lay there, heart pounding, the coal cars sheered away the side of his own cab tilted above him. The train finally passed, Jacobs' only injuries were a few facial bruises.

Funeral Planned For Mrs. Hunter

FUNERAL services for Mrs. Mabel Hunter will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. in Bethel AME church, with Rev. Satterfield officiating. Mrs. Hunter, in addition to survivors previously mentioned, leaves a number of nieces, nephews and cousins.

Large Number Of Voters Express Preference For Candidates On Ticket Other Than Own

TO SOME Monroe County voters the grass looked greener on the other side of the fence in this year's primary election.

Official tabulation of the primary vote show that Democrats wrote-in the names of Republicans and Republicans wrote-in the names of Democrats.

It was a cross-the-fence maneuver which put GOP candidate for sheriff Victor Henning on the Democratic ballot and four of the five Democratic candidates for county commissioner posts on the GOP ballot.

Write-ins for party posts for county offices seldom totaled more than one or two. But there were exceptions.

Henning Polls 12 Write-ins

The major exception was in the case of Henning. He polled 12 write-ins on Democratic ballots. Eight of the 12 were from one district—Polk Township—by line of a tradition a Democratic stronghold.

None of the write-ins, of course, changed the outcome of party nominations. At best, they cast a slightly revealing sidelight on the temper of the voting public within parties.

Here's the way the write-ins showed up for county office nominations, by party:

On the Democratic ticket James Gould, incumbent GOP prothonotary, got four write-ins for prothonotary. Henning got two votes here. Earnest Van Vleet had one and county Sheriff Jacob Altemose, a Democrat running for renomination, got one write-in for prothonotary.

Gets Democratic Vote

GOP candidate for district attorney Elmer Christine got one write-in on the Democratic ticket. In the voting for register of wills and recorder of deeds, two GOP candidates—George Smith and Harry Taylor—got write-ins.

Smith had two and Taylor, three. Mary Emma Teeter Garcia and John Wernett, the two GOP candidates for county auditor nominations, each had two write-ins on the Democratic ballot.

On the Republican side, Detlef A. Hansen, Democratic candidate for district attorney, got six write-in votes, bettering Christine by five in the number of switches across party lines.

Four Democratic candidates for county commissioner polled votes on the GOP ballot. Willard Quick got three votes from Republicans; John Lesoine and Edward Doran each had two votes and John Reinhardt got one.

Butz, Altemose Poll Votes

Floyd Butz, present Democratic register and recorder, polled one write-in for the GOP nomination for that post. Sheriff Altemose got another write-in on the GOP ticket for prothonotary and the Democratic nominee, N. Henry Fenner, polled two write-ins from GOP voters.

Mahlon Besecker, Democratic auditor and successful candidate on that ticket for renomination, polled one write-in on the GOP ticket for that party's nomination.

Leader Aims At Keeping Assembly Busy

"I don't know whether they (House Democrats) have the votes or not (to pass the tax program)," the governor said.

However, he added, we "certainly have not written off anyone," when asked about eight Democrats who have stated they are opposed to the 411 million dollar classified income tax.

He disclosed plans to begin next week on a series of panel television shows across the state designed to sell the tax bundle. The time will be made available "on a public service basis." The first program is tentatively set for Wednesday at (KDKA-TV) Pittsburgh. Another program is scheduled for June 2 at (WGAL-TV) Lancaster. A third will be held June 9 at (WHUM-TV) Reading.

GOP Demands Time

In addition the governor will appear on a Harrisburg (WPTA-TV) panel program Tuesday with taxes as the main topic.

Several hours after the conference the Republican State Committee telegraphed the television stations in Pittsburgh, Lancaster and Reading which have granted free time to the governor.

The telegram said that "as there are two sides to this public issue I am requesting that equal use of your facilities be made available to reply to the governor on a public service basis."

The telegrams were signed by Miles Horst, state Republican chairman.

Panel members, to be chosen by the stations, will represent various women's groups, labor organizations and chambers of commerce. The governor said he had no objection to Republican opponents of his tax program seeking equal free time because "I think the people ought to be informed and get both sides of the picture."

Leader indicated he would sign into law a bill now on his desk providing for increased expense allowances for lawmakers. It would raise from $1,800 to $3,000 a year the money provided for officers expenses.

"Although I have not studied the measure in detail I have indicated previously that it has long been my opinion legislators are underpaid," he said.

Auto Workers Union Rejects Ford Offer To Sell Stock In Lieu Of Guaranteed Wage

would be made at no interest cost to employees and would be repayable on an employee's return to work if he works 32 or more hours a week.

Other Offer

Increases in the so-called "annual improvement factor" in the present five-year contract. These have provided employees a 5-cent to compensate for technological advances in the industry. These are hourly wage increase each year unrelated to living costs, which would continue to govern wage rates for another five years.

Hourly wage boosts of 5 to 10 cents an hour for certain skilled employees.

A seventh paid holiday, actually to be taken as two half-holidays on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

Triple time for holidays except those involving workers in seven-day operations and in the steel division.

Night Shift Increase

Increase in midnight shift premium from 7 1/2 to 10 per cent, except in steel operations.

Time and a half for Saturday work as such, except on seven-day operations and in the steel division.

An increase in vacations from 2 to 2 1/2 weeks for employees with 10 to 15 years' service.

Also included was a provision that upon mutual agreement between company and an employee, a separation allowance would be paid to an employee who is laid off permanently because of lack of work through no fault of his own. This would give such a worker 40 hours' pay for each year of seniority up to eight years, and 80 hours' pay for each additional year up to 30.

Cost $100 Million

Reliable sources said Ford's offer would cost the company $95 to $110 million dollars a year in added benefits.

Ford said its offer "closely parallels" an offer made to the UAW last week by General Motors, but as yet unannounced.

Indian Group Begins Dance Schedule

WHILE OTHER groups in the YMCA are ending activities for the season, the Kohanso Indian Groups of the Barrett Branch YMCA is just beginning. Actually the group has been active during the past year but the summer months are most important for the group's ceremonies and dances.

The group began its 1955 dance schedule May 17 putting on a demonstration for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Barrett "Y". Friday, May 20 the group danced before a group at the Mount Pocono Fire Hall. This was the "Y" wind-up program for the Swiftwater-Mount Pocono YMCA.

One of the big events for the group will be the coming trip to Hollis, Long Island for a dance and ceremony. These dates are June 3 and 4. June 8 will find the boys dancing at the new YMCA in Stroudsburg and then they will journey to Allentown to join with other Indian lore groups and present a three-day pageant.

At the Barrett YMCA annual meeting, James Hardy was presented with the group's highest award — the chief's feather bonnet. It has taken a year and a half for James to earn this award, which only two other boys have earned. He is a brave in the group and one of the finest dancers.

Reassurance Of President, Pentagon On Our Air Power Supported By Fact

From the welter of conflicting testimony about the state of our air strength, we draw this conclusion: either there is a lack of full knowledge of the facts or the entire question has fallen into the political arena.

Should the latter be true, we can only voice our disgust that men of national stature should permit themselves to indulge in such prostitution of an essentially vital subject. But should the former be correct, then it is high time we be given a full clarification of what is already a confused situation.

Certainly there is no reason for the people of this great nation to be treated as children who cannot be trusted with full knowledge of the facts in the aviation picture. Men and women of mature thought should be given the fullest and most honest report on what our strength in the air is, right now, vis-a-vis the Russian strength.

Is it true, as General Burgess said in his Detroit speech last week, that the "Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better?" Is it true, as General Powers said in another speech that Russia now has the world's largest air force plus "resources in manpower and material we could not possibly match?"

Or is it true, as President Eisenhower told his news conference last week, that the pessimistic utterances of some air generals and those of Sen. Symington of Missouri are far from complete accuracy.

We have been assured for many months that we are keeping ahead of the Reds in aviation development and experimentation.

We have been assured that our great

Strategic Air Force, our Tactical Air Command with its supersonic fighters and fighter-bombers, our guided missile development and expansion, our radar fences both in the air and on the ground, are keeping the United States well in advance of similar efforts by our former ally.

From the rarified atmosphere of top echelon Pentagon officialdom right down through the junior staff members, the Air Force tells us that we are well ahead of the Russians.

Congress then gets into the act with a lot of loud-speaking by men with one eye fixed on 1956, to the effect that actually we are practically sitting ducks for the Russian air force should the Kremlin elect to push the panic button tonight and begin the destruction of our great industrial centers.

Through it all, President Eisenhower retains his confident calm and assures us that we are not falling behind, that our Air Force is second to none in the world, and that nothing is being left undone that we might possibly do in our determination to remain in command of the global situation.

Whom are we to believe? Discarding the tumult and the shouting from so many sources, and looking to the production record of our aviation manufacturing industry and to the superior training record of our Air Force in being, we are content to accept the President's reassurance at its face value.

Maybe some things have been left undone that should have been done, and conversely, but all in all we are of the firm belief that despite the outcries, America still stands fast as the air defender of its own.

Quantity Milk Purchases By Public Deserve Downward Price Adjustment

This newspaper, along with many others throughout Pennsylvania, is happy to agree with Governor Leader's recent statement on milk prices. There's also a solid unanimity on the part of the public in behalf of Mr. Leader's remarks.

The Governor has asked the Milk Control Commission to set up a quantity discount system for families buying milk in quantities. The Commission, confronted with the Governor's statement, is finally getting around to doing something about a price inequity which no amount of editorializing in the past could accomplish.

Even though they plan a long series of hearings throughout the state, when a simple directive based on experience of other regions outside Pennsylvania would suffice, the Commission is at least moving on the matter.

Some market areas outside Pennsylvania cut prices as much as three cents a quart when six quarts or more are bought.

"It stands to reason," the Governor said, "that it costs less per quart to deliver several bottles than it does only one."

Agreed. And it sounds like something the dairies themselves might favor. American business, and the American standard of living, both have been built on economies that are passed along to the consumer.

George Sokolsky Says...

British Used Marshall Plan Aid Well And To Their Permanent Economic Advantage

Londan, May 23 — There has been some talk in Congress about the use of the British of the counter-part funds for the reduction of their national debt. The talk was unfavorable. The point must be made that while the Marshall Plan was very popular among the British it has run its course, and the defense aid which followed it is of value but not of the same value as the Marshall Plan because of changed conditions. Also the insistence upon giving some aid in the form of agricultural material out of the stockpiles or such products as grapefruit, which is an unusual food here, does sometimes make for complication.

It is freely admitted here that some of the counter-part funds were used to reduce the national debt. It is suggested that it was a use that did not neutralize the benefit of dollar aid by creating an inflation. In a word, unless defenses were set up, the huge influx of dollars could have stimulated inflation. On the other hand, American public opinion was insistent that Marshall Plan money should not subsidize the budgets of receiving countries.

It was put to me this way. This was the origin of the "special account," namely the system by which sterling counter-part (the proceeds of selling the dollar goods by which aid was brought into the country) was paid into a special account at the Bank of England and drawings out of the account could only be made by the Treasury with the approval of the United States.

One of the objects specified in the Marshall Plan agreement was the extension of debt. And as an act of deliberate policy the British government decided, with the approval of the American authorities, to dispose of the sterling in the special account in this way and not to spend it on the capital investment which was the pattern adopted for counter-part in continental countries. The British concept of their economy is to protect the balance of payments while avoiding inflation, and the surprising thing is that they have done it. They used our assistance under the Marshall Plan to do it, but what must be said of them that cannot be said of some other countries is that they used our aid well and to their permanent advantage; it did not go down the drain.

On the continent of Europe, counter-part funds were used to increase the number and volume of state or privately-owned investment projects. In Great Britain investments were restricted to maintain the internal economic balance in order to avoid inflation. Even so there were too many state investments coming out of war conditions and it was not considered politically or economically advisable to use Marshall Plan counter-part funds to aid private investments.

The total of sterling counter-part funds amounted to about 560,000,000 pounds or about 1,500,000,000 dollars. The United States got five percent of this and after making some deductions for small items the bulk of this amount was used to extinguish the national debt. Special arrangements were made that this use did not increase inflation. The debt reduction consisted of special non-interest bearing notes in which the counter-part was invested by the Bank of England where it was lodged in a special account. It did not increase cash circulation. The Marshall aid period was 1948-1951 and the amount of counter-part applied to debt extinction in each year was as follows:

1949-1950	92,000,000 pounds
1950-1951	275,000,000 pounds
1951-1952	53,000,000 pounds
Totalling	527,000,000 pounds

This amounts to $1,481,200,000.

It is not understandable why there should be any secrecy about such a matter and it undoubtedly has been published elsewhere. When I left on this trip it was spoken of as a great secret. The British have to avoid inflation because their economy rests on a fine hair. They are about 50,000,000 people who live on islands that can produce food for about 15,000,000 people, which, quite apart from the serious question of raw materials, metals, woods, fibers, food, takes on an importance here which it cannot have in the United States where we stockpile butter and wheat. The British can import ample food now but they want to keep it that way and all their economic maneuvering is designed to that end.

The $350,000 Henlock Cup

In these days when boys won't take a job tripping a hedge without first asking about an annual wage, pension rights and security payments, the Yale senior who recently refused a $350,000 inheritance is sensational enough to be the Senior of the Year.

But it leaves these questions:

- 1.—Has he discovered uranium under Mory's?
- 2.—Is the bursar's office taking marbles for cash?
- 3.—Has some professor convinced him that a man can make both ends meet by raising mushrooms at home?
- 4.—Can it be that the traffic congestion in New Haven drives even students off their rockers?

The Civil Liberties Union, asked by New York's police commissioner why it didn't say something about the rights of a policeman instead of mentioning only the rights of lawbreakers or suspects in a new booklet, agreed to do so, but came through with only one paragraph saying, "It is unwise to be insolent, cause a disturbance or resist the police, even if innocent. Such behavior tends to lessen respect for law and order."

My America —by Harry Boyd Dealing With Employers Properly Important Today

Could it be that general respect for the functions of management is staging a comeback?

I wouldn't know, but I attach some significance to the fact that the heavier magazines recently have been giving a good deal of attention to the problems of compensating executives adequately. And there's a set of rules for "Getting Along with the Boss" in the current issue of Changing Times, a periodical with a feel for the public pulse.

It hasn't been so many years since bosses were getting fairly short shrift from employees who were in a seller's market. There has been no change in the employment picture great enough in itself to temper that attitude. But maybe it is gradually dawning on people that highly organized business and industrial machines don't run themselves, but have to be managed.

At any rate, Changing Times seems it timely to pass out these pointers on how to get along with the boss:

- "Respect his authority and his responsibility."
- "Watch your timing."
- "Allow for the fact that he's only human."
- "Know his delegation level."
- "Be business like."
- "Remember that he deals with a bigger picture than you do."
- "Find out how he likes to be contacted."
- "Keep him informed."
- "Don't concentrate too heavily on pleasing him."
- "Treat him like an individual."

I can't go into all the particulars with which CT expands those points, and I strongly advise prudent employees not to jump to their own conclusions as to what the pointers mean without filling themselves in on the particulars.

But I have a hunch that life would proceed more smoothly in this world if people gave more thought to the techniques of dealing with employers, and I'm glad to see the magazine editors digging into the matter.

When you come to think of it, bosses don't have such easy rows to hoe. Like everybody else they have their own ideas on how things ought to be done and probably they'd like to see them done that way. But they have to cover too much ground to handle all the details themselves. That forces them to rely on other people to handle parts of their over-all assignment in ways that will make the net result approximately what they had in mind.

Since all the people he's relying on like to do things their own way, too, it's a wonder the boss ever gets a net result that is altogether to his liking.

But he has to take the rap for it when he faces up to HIS boss. Makes you feel sort of sorry for him, in a way. Probably no satisfaction surpasses the satisfaction in a job well done, and that satisfaction is sweetest to the man who did the whole job himself—every detail exactly the way he felt it ought to be.

Probably bosses don't taste that satisfaction often.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

In an elevator in the MGM administration building, Groucho Marx found himself standing next to a lady with a wide-brim hat. "Who do you think you are?" asked Groucho. "Greta Garbo?" The lady nodded. It was the great G. G.

Later a news commentator predicted that current negotiations over Germany and Austria would end in a stalemate. Groucho spoke up sharply. "I'll ask you," he said, "to keep my wife out of this conversation."

A roaming atheist found himself in the Fiji Islands one Sunday morning where he saw many natives going to church with Bibles in their hands. "Morons!" he exclaimed to them, "don't you know the Bible is worthless and Christ a creation of the imagination?"

"If that is so," answered an aged native without rancor, "a worthless book and an imaginary man have saved your life. Had you come here before we heard of them, we'd be serving you up for dinner at this very hour."

Robert S. Allen Reports Gov. Clement Stevenson's Choice For Running Mate

Washington, May 27 — Adlai Stevenson has come to some important conclusions regarding his making another try for the presidency next year.

On the basis of his current thinking, the former Illinois Governor:

- Will formally announce his candidacy not until after the New Year.
- His choice for keyfoter at the Democratic convention is Governor Frank Clement of Tennessee, whom Stevenson rates as without peer as a political orator.
- His top preference for Vice President is the same young, dynamic Southerner.

Should Stevenson determine not to run, he will make that known before next January and will declare in favor of Governor Averell Harriman.

The New Yorker is also the first choice of former President Truman, in the event Stevenson bows out of the 1956 picture. As of now that appears unlikely.

But it could happen. Stevenson is not yet irrevocably committed to running again. He is far more inclined to do so than he was six months ago, and if the die had to be cast today the answer would be in the affirmative. But he still has to make that final choice.

Significantly indicative of Stevenson's present trend is his enthusiasm for Governor Clement as convention keyfoter and running mate.

There are a number of attractive and eager aspirants for both roles, in Congress as well as among the state executives. Illustrative of this is the boom that has sprung up for Representative Harold Cooley, chairman of the Agriculture Committee and leader of the hard-fought battle which put the 90 per cent farm price supports bill through the House with labor and big city votes. The North Carolinian is highly regarded by CIO president Walter Reuther.

Stevenson is carefully avoiding antagonizing any ambitious hopeful. But his close friends are making no secret of their admiration for Clement and where and how he fits into Stevenson's campaign plans.

The Tennessee Governor and militant foe of the Dixon-Yates power contract is equally enthusiastic about Stevenson.

Representative John McCormack, Mass., Democratic Floor Leader of the House, learned that during a chat with Clement at the recent governors conference, McCormack favors Sam Rayburn as the 1956 standard bearer, and sounded out Clement on that by suggesting, "We ought to have a new candidate next year." Clement didn't see it that way at all. "I don't find such sentiment in my state," he replied. "Stevenson is more popular there than ever before. He can carry Tennessee hands-down against Eisenhower."

Note: Speaker Rayburn is making it bluntly clear that he hasn't the slightest interest in running for Vice President. When an old Texas friend proposed booming him for that, Rayburn announced, "I never ran for vice anything in my life, and I'm not going to start doing so at this late date. I've been a member of the House for 42 years, and I intend to make it 50. No one else has ever done that, and I'd like to very much."

GOP Politics — Next year's Republican convention will have 94 more delegates than the 1952 conclave—1,300 as against 1,206. Of the 94 additional delegates, 64 will come from Southern states as bonus for going Republican. Texas will get the largest increase, from 38 to 54; followed by Florida 18 to 26; Tennessee from 20 to 28; Arkansas 11 to 16; Virginia 23 to 30; Georgia 17 to 23; Kentucky 20 to 26; Louisiana 15 to 20; North Carolina 26 to 28. Former Governor Alf Landon, in a Memorial Day Speech, cites the increasing power of the Soviet military as a reason for the peace overtures of the Kremlin rulers.

The 1936 GOP presidential candidate says, "Perhaps the most potent factor of all is the rising military influence which threatens to engulf the Communist Party hierarchy. The party functionaries know and fear the historical development of the military man on horseback. . . . Perhaps it is the development of a potential military dictator that worries the Communist rulers, who must know history." . . . Representative Cliff Young (R., Nev.) is being vigorously urged by party chiefs to run against Senator Alan Bible (D.) next year. Bible is filling out the term of the late Senator McCarran and is considered politically weak in the southern part of the state, which has 40 percent of the vote and where Young has displayed much strength. Bible still has not won over potent anti-McCarran elements in the Democratic Party because of Bible's continued close alliance with McCarranites.

Not Popular — The House Appropriations Committee's harsh treatment of Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks' budget should have been no surprise to him.

The blunt grilling he was subjected to in private sessions with this powerful group should have been a foreboding indication that his funds would be drastically trimmed—as happened. The Committee slashed his budget by 18 percent, the largest cut of any Department so far.

Highways Vital To Economy —by H. G. Heller

Full modernization of the Interstate Highway System over the next 10 years is vital to America's future, in terms of employment, family income and overall economic growth, the automotive industry recently told Congress.

In a statement to the House Public Works Committee, now considering proposed highway legislation, James J. Nance, president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, said that traffic demands on the 40,000-mile interstate system will be nearly trebled by 1965.

Mr. Nance, who is president of the Studebaker-Packard Corporation, said that an emergency federal road program is needed to catch up with highway deficiencies that have accumulated over the last quarter century.

"A large part of the cost," he added, "can properly be spread over 30 years or so, and paid for out of greater future federal tax revenues generated by the highway improvements."

Highway deficiencies now cost the nation some $5.3 billions yearly, the statement declared—a waste that exceeds the total currently being spent for all road and street construction.

Mr. Nance pointed out that much of the nation's economic growth, and many of the changes in American life, have been linked in one way or another with the rise in motor vehicle travel made possible by the development of our national highway network.

We believe, he said, that modernization of our highway system now "will have equally far-reaching effects on the future economic growth of the nation and on the future living standards of our people."

Eleven million additional jobs are needed in the next 10 years to serve our growing labor force, he said. Eight million must be in the service industries, according to government studies.

"The service industries are capable of tremendous future growth as our economy expands. But their past growth has been directly related to the growth of highway travel, and their future depends heavily on a continued rise in highway travel."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Taking my advice seriously about doing what I want to do, I went out to play a few holes of golf yesterday afternoon. Not a few quick holes, you notice. In addition to the usual slow-down hazards of short shots and lost balls, a new one has been added—the wild strawberries are ripe at Glen Brook.

Hot in the sun, red and juicy-looking against the green leaves, and sweet to the tongue, they make progress extremely slow.

However, if I hadn't been late with my shopping, I'd have missed seeing Ginny Robinson Hoag and learning that she'll be home for three months. With her husband now in service in Germany, it will take that long for all the red tape before she can join him there, which is nice for her parents and the toddlers at the wedding pool this summer.

And if I hadn't been late with my stories last night I might have missed hearing about the remarkable Mrs. Hagmeyer. Seems she moved into a new house at noon and entertained the Altar Guild that night, with all the furniture in place, the dishes unpacked and ready to serve on.

Now there's an efficient woman. Probably she'd have had time for golf, too, if she'd so desired, and brought home enough wild strawberries for canning besides.

Miss Betty Smiley Is Honored At Bridal Shower

A surprise miscellaneous shower was held on May 20 in honor of Miss Betty Smiley, who will become the bride of Wilmer Metzger on Sunday, June 19.

The doorway was decorated with green and white streamers and wedding bells. A sprinkling can and umbrella trimmed in green and white marked the many gifts. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Stanley Hallett and Mrs. Lewis Sebring.

Moves At Noon; Entertains Guild That Night

The Altar Guild of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, met recently at the home of Mrs. Richard Hagmeyer, at her new home at 205 Wallace Street. The home was so new, in fact, that the Hagmeyers had moved in at noon of the day of the meeting. By meeting time, the house had been put to rights, the dishes and food ready for serving and the members were being made welcome.

The guild discussed preparing a baby layette to be used by the Board of Inner Missions, Bethlehem. Games were played with prizes going to Barbara Lodge and Mrs. James McConnell.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Long, Chipperfield Drive.

Refreshments of cake and punch, made by the Brownies, were served. Each mother was given a lace favor. Plans were made for a future picnic and skating party. Barbara Ellen Fish was ill and unable to attend.

Rebekah Lodge

The Rachel Brodheads Rebekah Lodge will meet at 8 p. m. Friday at Fort Penn Lodge hall. All members are requested to be present.

During the past few weeks, I have become friends—by mail—with Tricia Hurst, the very gracious fashion coordinator of Exquisite Form Brassiere Company, and I am much interested in a communication just received from her in which she states that far too few women consider the necessity of a new brassiere whenever they purchase a new blouse. Does it ever occur to women that a beautiful blouse can be ruined by the wrong bra, Miss Hurst asks? I am inclined to wonder the same—for certainly one sees these warmish days of spring when coats are cast aside, are far from attractive.

Today's blouses, Miss Hurst points out, are made of all types of fabrics . . . some clinging, some "ballooning," but, she says, "no matter what the type of material or styling, the bosom contour should never be lessened but, as in a sweater, should be subtly and properly silhouetted."

Miss Hurst forwards a number of suggestions offered by Lillian Hunau, designed of Exquisite Form bras. In the latter's opinion, heavier fabric blouses call for brassieres of a substantial material such as cotton or cotton batiste, and occasionally—even when the bust is fully developed—a slight padding is needed. This, Miss Hunau says, will not add to the size of the bosom, but will hold the shape of the figure under a heavier fabric which might tend to flatten or distort the contour. It applies too to a blouse which is cut straight across the bosom, and therefore minimizes the bustline.

For the lighter fabric blouse of cotton, nylon, dacron, etc., the bra should depend solely upon each woman's individual needs. However, Miss Hunau emphatically states that a too-pointed garment should never be worn, as this tends to be crude and detracts from the natural figure curve which is round. Also she urges women to stay away from the half or three-quarter bra when wearing a high neck blouse as these give a cut-in-half silhouette, while the excess, pushed-up flesh appears bouncy and sloppy.

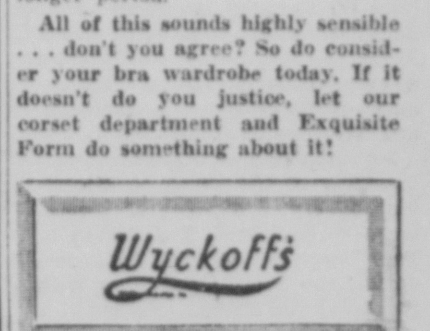

For wear with a low cut blouse, a slightly padded bra is recommended. These should give "push up" support, but should always separate. Here the half or three-quarter cup is perfect, and the under-cup wiring will give the desired silhouette.

Miss Hunau points out that many women are careless in wearing very sheer blouses, neglecting to have the required strapless bra, to avoid the unsightliness of straps. She also emphatically states that half slips and sheer blouses definitely call for a long-line bra. "Never," she says, "should any expanse of flesh around the middle be visible under a blouse." In this we agree most heartily.

As our Exquisite Form specialists point out, a woman's figure will always show, and she should always make the most of it. She should select the "hidden from view" garments just as carefully as she does her outer apparel . . . and she should not only think of line, but of fabric. If a woman tends to perspire, she should choose a light cotton garment and stick to it, cotton being the most absorbent of all materials and going a long way toward preventing underarm stains. In the long run, the cotton bra will prove cooler and will protect the fresh, crisp blouse for a longer period.

All of this sounds highly sensible . . . don't you agree? So do consider your bra wardrobe today. If it doesn't do you justice, let our corset department and Exquisite Form do something about it!

FODDER FEEDER—Stroudsburg High School vocational agriculture students watched an on-the-spot demonstration of a new-type silage or forage blower yesterday afternoon at Brodheadsville. Men making the demonstration were Jerome Blakeslee, his sons, Jerome Jr. and Sam. The machine blows forage material—this time it was rye grass—into a silo where it is stored for use later in supplementing animal diet. Boys first went into the field to watch a chopping machine in action.

After serving in all divisions of that firm, Mr. Hart came to Stroudsburg late in 1949 to operate Citizens Gas Co. and also the Bangor-Pen Argyl systems of Penn Fuels.

Brazil Invites Support Backing

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 26 (AP)—The president of the Brazilian Coffee Institute said today that Brazil can't go it alone any more in supporting world coffee prices.

To continue "a policy of isolated defense," Alcindor Junqueira asserted, "would be a heavy burden on Brazil, benefiting the other countries not participating in that sacrifice."

PUC Orders New Hearings On Spring Brook Rate Hike

HARRISBURG, May 26 (AP)—The Public Utility Commission today reopened the books on a two-year-old rate increase case of the Scranton-Spring Brook Water Service Co. of Wilkes-Barre.

The commission ordered new public hearings and decided to step into the case itself, assigning its own experts and attorneys to take part.

No dates were set for the new hearings but they will be held "as soon as possible."

The PUC authorized an $887,000 annual boost for the utility which was put into effect May 1, 1953.

Formal complaints were lodged by the city of Scranton and Robert Platt, Wilkes-Barre, head of the Associated Water Defense League. Today's action reopens the once-closed record of these complaints.

Study Returns

The new hearings were specified in an interim order to determine whether the granted increase produced an excessive return and whether the present rates provide "equitable distribution" of charges between customers and divisions, the PUC said.

The utility serves 156,000 consumers in Lackawanna, Luzerne, Susquehanna and Wayne counties. "We are unable to say from this (completed) record that the distribution of revenue among the various classes of customers and between the two divisions is proper and just," the PUC informed the company.

The commission explained that the firm, operating to divisions for service in the Wilkes-Barre and Scranton area, maintains different flat home rates and different metered charges for commercial and industrial users.

Higher In Scranton

Metered residential rates are identical in the two divisions. But the other type charges are higher in the Scranton division.

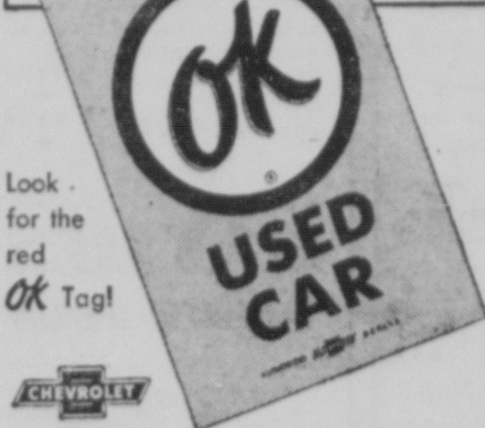

The PUC found that the record is "devoid of support" for the differences.

"On its face, it would appear

Lutherans Ordain 10 Ministers

TEN YOUNG MEN were ordained into the ministry last night at an ordination service of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania held in St. John's Church, Rev. P. N. Wohlsein, D.D., pastor.

Rev. Dr. William C. Ney gave the sermon. Rev. Dr. Charles M. Cooper conducted the ordination ceremonies and Rev. Dr. Claude E. Shick read the service.

Dr. Cooper is president of the Ministerium and Dr. Shick is secretary.

The ordination ceremonies were the final phases of the Ministerium's annual sessions held earlier this week at the Inn, Buck Hill Falls.

Assist In Service

Miss Eleanor Decker played the prelude to the service and the Senior Choir of St. John's sang an appropriate anthem.

Ushers for the service were George T. Robinson, A. W. Munson, J. B. Dunkelberger and A. E. Kitzman.

Those ordained and their assignments include:

Raymond C. Best, Philadelphia, to Christ Church, Allentown; Richard R. Boyer, Laureldale, to Argentina; Paul L. Buehrle, Keller Church, Pa., to Weisport; Gilbert E. Doan Jr., Nazareth, to Philadelphia; George N. Fehr Jr., Reading, to Germantown; Robert E. Grochou, Wilmington, Del., to Dunlinden, Del.; J. W. Schwartz, Philadelphia, to a Liberia Mission; Harlan J. ## Jury Convicts One Man, Acquits Second In Fatality

MILFORD—One young man was convicted and his companion acquitted this week in Pike County Court after a second trial growing out of an automobile fatality 22 months ago.

The decision was almost the reverse of the first trial. Involved were Ronald Hotson, of Port Jervis, N. Y., and Justin Burdo, 25, of Baltimore, formerly of Port Jervis.

Both were charged in connection with the deaths of Mrs. Nora Williams, 70, and Nora Lee Tehanik, 7, both of Scranton, in an automobile accident July 28, 1953, between Milford and Matamoras.

At the time Burdo was charged with two counts of involuntary manslaughter and Hotson was charged with permitting Burdo to operate his car.

At their trial, Burdo pleaded innocent, then pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year in jail and fined $750. One count against him was dropped. Hotson pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one month in jail and fined $300.

Last March Burdo's attorney sought a new trial on the basis of new evidence. This move resulted in each man being charged with two counts of involuntary manslaughter.

This week, the Pike County jury convicted Hotson on both counts and cleared Burdo completely.

Circus Acts Presented By Scout Pack

CUB PACK 83 gave its own version of "the big top" at a regular meeting this week.

"The Circus" was the theme of Cub Scouting this month. To tie in with the topic at hand, pack members presented a series of "acts" and "skits" centered around circus and carnival life.

The meeting was held in St. Matthew's Parochial School auditorium. Dr. Francis McGarry held a planning session with parents while the cubs made Father's Day cards under direction of Angelo Dellaria, assistant cubmaster.

With Dellaria also acting as ringmaster the following skits were presented:

Den No. 1—Cubs William Lopez, Ronald Rovito, Thomas Panza and John Shanley, under direction of den mother Mrs. Mary Lopez, presented a fat lady, a tiger, hobo and a strong man.

Other Acts

Den No. 2—George Hack, Michael Boushell, Robert Ludgate, David Edwards, John Nolan and Miles Werkheiser were seen in

"The Connecticut Yankee" under direction of Mrs. Rita Hack.

Den No. 3—Mrs. Edith Beech, den mother, presented Riley Beech as a tattooed man and Thomas O'Hanlon as a snake charmer.

Den No. 5—Mrs. Mary Burnett presented a tightrope walker, fat lady, an Indian and a sharp-shooter played by Truman Burnett, David Torzillo, Thomas Fisher, and William Burnett.

Den No. 7—Ernest Ihara, Robert Besecker, Robert Baird, Robert Kresge and Terry McGurk were presented in various roles by Mrs. Robert Kresge, Ernest Ihara, and Helen Besecker.

Badges were presented to the following Cubs: Thomas Panza, Michael Boushell and Riley Beech, John Shanley, Robert Ludgate, David Torzillo, William Burnett, Robert Baird, Robert Besecker, lion badges.

RILEY

Sports Editor

HISTORY ROLLED back 25 years on Wednesday as Pocono won the first two games of a scheduled two-out-of-three series, by scores of 12-5 and 6-5. Otto "Junior" Mills, now coach of the Chestnut Hill club, was pitching for the school he now directs in those days. This scribe remembers the morning game 14 years ago, also played at Gordon Giffels Field, in which Chestnut Hill came up with a 7-6 verdict over Pocono to capture the 1934 crown in a special playoff.

Six years ago, these two playoff partners clashed in a special encounter on the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College field and Pocono walked off with the laurels. As far back as this reporter can remember, both Pocono and Chestnut Hill have been serious threats for the baseball crown in the Monroe County League, although of course neither school held a monopoly on the title. I can remember well when Polk, Tobeyanna Township and Barrett have won baseball championships.

On Wednesday it appeared to be a case of Larry Butz just being too much for Chestnut Hill, even though the hard working right hander seemed to tire in the final inning. The fielding game of the day was turned in by Tommy Becker, as the second sacker grabbed a torrid liner by Bill Altman and turned what appeared to be certain hit into a double play. Tom, a real Brooklyn Dodger fan, is probably still trying to work the sting out of his hand.

Both teams were bolstered by some truly good catching. Stan "Chic" Roeder, a senior, and Lou Meekes, an eighth grader, gave Pocono and Chestnut Hill the best catching in the circuit during the season just completed. Harold "Shorty" Burkett, guardian of the number three sack for Chestnut Hill, is one of the best high school third basemen you'll ever get a chance to witness in action. Burkett will be back for another season of scholastic ball next year.

Old grads of both schools returned to see their favorites in action, but all the noise came from the current active rooting sections. Several members of both the Pocono and Chestnut Hill rosters will be outstanding performers in the Pocono Mountains League during the coming summer months. The home run blasted by Doug Nelson in the third inning was a good poke in any ball park. The ball rolled to the 405-foot mark in deepest right, center field.

This was the second homer that Nelson slashed against Chestnut Hill this season and his third of the Monroe County League campaign. Doug's dad, Dave, used to manage the Tannersville club in the days before the present Pocono Mountains League. But's father, Morg, is listed as one of the all-time great pitchers in this area. His fast ball is still discussed by area baseball fans whenever speed among pitchers is brought into the conversation.

Dick Bizousky, who started on the mound for Chestnut Hill and then shifted to shortstop, is also the son of a former Monroe County athletic great, John Fraley, who battled for Larry Starnier in the seventh inning for Pocono, grounded out and didn't strike out as listed in yesterday's box score. Wednesday's playoff between Pocono and Chestnut Hill was another chapter in one of the most friendly rivalries in the coaching profession. Mills and Harry Werkheiser, have been opposing each other down through the years, especially in baseball.

They have always gone all out to win, but never once have they lost a friendly attitude toward one another. It would be a fitting tribute to the Pocono High baseball team if one or more of the organizations in the Tannersville area present the kids with some sort of a reward for their great effort. The entire Pocono contingent, from the coach right down to the substitute who didn't see a bit of action, is to be warmly congratulated for their fine victory. Chestnut Hill is also to be complimented for its fine try and a bit of sportsmanship.

Newcombe Hurls Seventh Straight Victory As Dodgers Earn 6-2 Decision Over Pittsburgh

By Joe Bradis
PITTSBURGH, May 26 (AP)—Big Don Newcombe of Brooklyn registered his seventh straight triumph without a loss today by whipping the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 on six hits.

Newcombe helped his own cause in the four-run ninth inning with a two-run triple over the head of centerfielder Tom Saffell.

Newcombe walked two and struck out five. In 45 previous innings the tall Negro righthander walked only four men. Both walks by Newcombe came in the first inning but the Dodgers erased the runners on a double play. The Dodgers collected 13 hits.

Third sacker Gene Freese got the Pirates off to a 1-0 start in the second with a homer against the left fielder in leftfield.

Wall Three Strokes Behind

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 26 (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, who has never won a major golf tournament, set the pace for some of the nation's top pros today in the first round of the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open.

Score

Finsterwald shot 11 pars and seven birdies for a seven-under-par 32-33—65 to take the first day lead in the tournament.

Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., had 35-33—68; Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., 34-35—69.

Committee Honors Dark

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Alvin Dark, New York Giants' shortstop, today was named "sports father of the year" by the national Father's Day committee for his "dedication to clean sportsmanship and his ideals of democracy."

New YMCA To Feature Swim Meet

MOUNTAINHOME—An Invitational Swimming Meet will be sponsored at the new YMCA Saturday, June 11, for all boys and girls in Monroe County. This event is part of the Dedication Week Ceremonies at the "Y."

Three age groupings will be used for both boys and girls so as to make the competition fairer. The groups are: eight to 11; 12 to 14; and 15 to 18. Boys races will be at 9:30 in the morning and girls rates at 2 p. m.

Trophies

A trophy will be awarded to the outstanding boy and girl swimmer and ribbons will be awarded to first, second, and third places in all events. Each boy or girl can enter only three events and one relay.

The events in the meet are: 40-yard freestyle; 40-yard backstroke; 40-yard breaststroke; 20-yard freestyle; 20-yard backstroke; 20-yard breaststroke; 100-yard freestyle; 60-yard individual medley; 200-yard freestyle diving, and the 80-yard freestyle relay (four persons).

Entry blanks must be returned to the YMCA by Thursday, June 9.

Archery Club Makes Change In Name

A SWITCH in names highlighted this week's meeting of the Delaware Archery Association, during which several bits of important business were discussed.

Membership of the club decided to change the organization's name to the Pocono Archery Association, due to the fact that the Delaware Archery Association label conflicted with that of another club.

It was also agreed that the club would accept the offer of the Kintz property, on Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, to be used as a field range. Work will begin on the range on Saturday morning.

Match Planned

A club match has been planned for the afternoon of Sunday, June 5.

Dave Miller, association president, presided over this week's meeting.

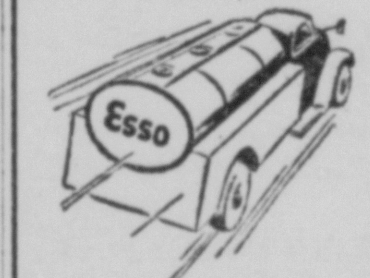

A time and place for the next meeting will be announced in the near future.

Group Gives $15 To Fund

MEMBERS of the Gra-Y group at the YMCA have raised $15 for the American Cancer Society's local campaign.

Yesterday Carlton Chopp, director of youth activities at the Y, presented the money to Mrs. Robert Miller, official of the local campaign.

The boys made the money by a door-to-door selling campaign.

There are about 16 million acres in U. S. national parks.

Allen Roth Develops New Idea In Food Preparation

A COMPLETELY new idea in preparation and serving food has been developed by Allen Roth, at his Charcoal House, a few minutes from Stroudsburg on Rt. 611 at Wigwam Park.

In fact, Mr. Roth who has long been associated with the theater and television as musical director of orchestras, notes that "there's nothing like it even in New York."

Basis of this new adventure in eating, is prime meats and fowl.

A battery of charcoal stoves have been installed at one end of the spacious dining area with a huge fireplace-like brick canopy. The prospective diner is brought right up to the details of cooking, and may, if he chooses, get in the act.

That, of course, requires a chef's hat and there are dozens of them neatly racked on either side of the canopy, awaiting the guest who feels the urge to take a hand in things.

Karen, Mr. Roth's wife, is very active in the operation and entertains beautifully with appropriate songs.

The Charcoal House has an experienced chef and complete staff assisting. The establishment also has a fully licensed bar.

ELWOOD HINTZE of Hintze Cleaners has joined with other dry cleaners of America in a nationwide drive in which all American flags will be cleaned without charge in return for the owners' promise to display the colors on Flag Day, June 14.

The appeal to carry out this project was made jointly by Commander Seaborn Collins of American Legion and National Institute of Drycleaning.

American Legion officials here yesterday asked all flag owners to take advantage of the Hintze offer to make sure they "show their true colors—a bright and sparkling red, white and blue."

FOLLOWING A meeting of the Board of Directors, Tuesday, May 24th, Charles E. Oakes, president of Pennsylvania Power & Light Co., announced the appointment of E. L. Palmer, assistant to the president and secretary of the company, as vice president, public relations, and the appointment of Mr. H. J. Flood, to succeed Mr. Palmer, as secretary.

Mr. Palmer is a trustee of Moravian College and chairman of the board of directors of Moravian Seminary for Girls, Bethlehem, member of Theta Xi, Stevens Metropolitan Club, N. Y. City, honorary first defenders, Lehigh Country Club and Livingston Club of Allentown.

Mr. Flood, a native of New York City, joined PP&L in 1946 and at that time was responsible for shareowners relations, having been previously active in similar work with a group of utilities and prior to 1926 has been employed by two of the nation's largest banks. He was promoted to assistant secretary February 26, 1952, the position which he held until the present appointment.

Mr. Flood is a member of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries, Inc., member of the executive committee of the Lehigh County Community Chest.

TO TRANSPORT vast amounts of electrical power from the Martins Creek power plant about 15 miles below Stroudsburg to the Siegfried substation, 10 miles north of Allentown, Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. is now building a $3½ million electrical super "skyway," H. M. Schelden, Lehigh division vice president, reported.

A 220,000-volt line, to be supported by 123 massive steel towers, is being built, Mr. Schelden explained, in anticipation of completion next year for the second giant generating unit at the utility's newest power plant on the Delaware River. The line will be needed, he

Donald M. Singer

Stanley A. Deiter

Area Men Assigned To Fort Dix

TWO REGIONAL men recently inducted into Army service have arrived at Fort Dix, N. J., for assignment to different units of the 60th Infantry Division. They are:

Donald M. Singer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine J. Singer, Stroudsburg RD 3, and Stanley A. Deiter, son of Mrs. Anna Deiter, Portland. Singer attended Pocono High School. Before entering service he was employed at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Deiter was employed at Gardner's Restaurant, Foxtown Hill before he entered the service.

Both will receive eight weeks training in general military subjects before assignment to either specialist school, or to eight weeks of advanced training.

said to convey into the main PP&L system the vast additional amount of power to be generated by this new unit at Martins Creek.

At the same time, Mr. Schelden stated, the 24-mile line will provide a high-capacity connection from the main 220,000-volt transmission network to the lines now radiating from Martins Creek plant to the northern and eastern portions of the system. The company's 220,000-volt transmission network, in turn, connects with the networks of neighboring utilities, enabling operation of the various companies' generating capacity as a part of a large power pool which provides the lowest overall production costs and maximum service reliability.

Baccalaureate Sunday At Tobyhanna

TOBYHANNA—Coolbaugh High School's baccalaureate service will be held Sunday night in the school auditorium.

The baccalaureate sermon, as announced by Warren F. Noremaker, supervising principal, will be delivered by Rev. Donald A. Nowers, pastor of the Tobyhanna Methodist Church. He will also deliver the invocation. Time of the service is 8 p. m.

The school orchestra will play hymns during the service and the Glee Club will sing a few selections. The benediction will be given by Rev. Nowers.

Class Night To Be Held By Seniors

TOBYHANNA—Class night exercises for Coolbaugh High School will take place in the school auditorium tonight at 8.

The history of the senior class from the first grade to this year will be read. The last will and testament, in which an outspoken action of each senior will be written to an underclassman, also will be read.

Entertainment will include a piano solo, Judy Frankensfield; dance, Sandra Serfass and Coleen Serfass and flute solo, Una Jane Saxe.

The prophecy, a prediction of the future of each senior, will be presented in skit form. After the exercises the annual senior prom will be held at the school.

The officers of the class are: Jeanne Kresge, president; Francis

Honor Students Entertained By Exchange Club

BANGOR—The Bangor Exchange Club presented the area's honor students with certificates of scholastic recognition at their annual honor students dinner Wednesday night at the Blue Valley Farm Show Building.

Among those honored were four Bangor High School seniors: William Godshalk, academic valedictorian; Wayne Landry, academic salutatorian; Eileen Keenan, commercial-vocational valedictorian; and Loretta Ciccarelli, commercial-vocational salutatorian.

Also signaled for honor were the following Bangor High School eighth grade students: Eric Godshalk and Marilyn Mabus, of Bangor; Michael Dulac and Jay Meixsell, of Lower Mount Bethel Township; Ronald Bozuto and Peter Cistone, of Roseto.

Also, Curtis Tucker and Robert Emerick, of East Bangor; Barrie Reimer, of Upper Mount Bethel Township.

Eighth Graders East Stroudsburg Junior High School eighth graders from Portland, Carol Hauser and Eugenia Rushin, and Harry Wilford, of Upper Mt. Bethel Township, were also honored.

Others included Mary Ann Garofalo, senior valedictorian, and Michael Caponigro senior salutatorian, of Pope Plus X Parochial High School's first graduating class.

Representatives of Washington Township Consolidated School's eighth grade were Roger Horn and Barbara Decker; and of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Parochial School's eighth grade, Nancy Capozzolo and Robert Ferris.

Durchsprung, vice president; Edward Champney, secretary; James Kinsley, treasurer.

On hand to introduce the respective honor students were Donald Keat, superintendent of the Bangor Area Joint School system, Dr. Trevor Williams, principal of Bangor High School; Rev. Gennaro Leone, rector of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church; Mrs. Cornelia Stiles, principal of East Bangor schools, and Mrs. Althea LaBar, principal of Washington Township schools.

Certificates Given

Certificates were presented to each of the students by the club president, William R. Brown, Earl Kressler, program chairman, served as master of ceremonies.

Entertainment during the program consisted of organ numbers by Janet Wills, and accordion selections by Teresa Reale. The invocation was given by Harvey J. Miller, club chaplain. The dinner was served by the Jolly Helpers Class of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Bangor.

President Asks 12 Billions To Start Atomic Freighter

By Gardner L. Bridge

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress for $12,650,000 today to start work on his 33-million-dollar atomic-powered merchant ship which has been criticized by some Congress members as a "showboat."

The funds for getting the project under way were included in a $139,334,014 request for supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The White House said all of the additional appropriations had been specifically forecast in the President's budget "or are covered by the general reserve for contingencies," and therefore would not result in any increase in expenditures or new obligatory authority for the year.

Of the $12,650,000 for the atomic-powered merchant ship, the White House statement said:

Cost of Project

"This appropriation is needed by the Maritime Administration for the design and construction of the hull, crew training, and administration of its part of the program."

The cost of building and installing the atomic power plant and propulsion machinery which has been estimated at an additional 21 million dollars, will be financed by the Atomic Energy Commission, the statement said.

Eisenhower first outlined his plans for the ship in a speech at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press in New York on April 25. He said it was planned to send the vessel around the world as a dramatic demonstration of how atomic energy can be used for peaceful purposes.

Robert J. Staph

The Red Cross bloodmobile will make its annual visit at the local firehouse, Tuesday, June 7 from 1 to 6 p.m. under the sponsorship of the local American Legion post and its auxiliary.

In 1954 there were 2,285,000 gas fired water heaters sold in the United States.

Lutz Seeks Return On Seized Cash

EASTON—Attorneys for Lloyd F. Lutz, 44, of Mount Pocono, who was arrested April 11 on gambling charges in Bethlehem yesterday asked for the return of $2,400 seized from Lutz by state police as alleged gambling evidence. The petition was heard in Northampton County Court.

The money was taken from Lutz after a gambling raid at 920 Itasca St., Bethlehem, and held as evidence. Lutz faces grand jury action on charges of conducting a lottery, traffic in lottery, and conspiracy.

Action on Lutz's petition was deferred by Judge Carleton T. Woodring pending submission of memoranda by Lutz's attorneys, S. Maxwell Flitter and Gus Mildred, both of Easton.

Will Cite Cases

They said they will cite cases in which seized money was returned to owners when it was not a part of the evidence. Flitter asserted that there were no alleged gambling slips attached to the money, which was in a brown paper bag when it was taken.

Lutz did not testify yesterday. However, the petition for the return of the money stated that the money was his personal property. Flitter said that Lutz is an excavating contractor.

Sgt. Leonard Pleton, of the Bethlehem state police barracks, led the raid at the Itasca street house. In his testimony yesterday he charged that the sum of $2,400 represented the amount of "win" bets on treasury lottery tickets found at the house.

Dr. J. L. Rumsey M.D. will be out of town from May 14 to May 19, inclusive.—Adv.

NATO-Like Trade Pact Considered

By J. M. Roberts
AP News Analyst

Researchers for the National Planning Council and the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, in their advocacy of something like an economic NATO, are adopting an idea which has been kicking around Europe for several years.

Antoine Pinay, present French foreign minister, spread the idea during an informal visit to the United States nearly two years ago. It was also discussed when the British adopted their slogan of "Trade not Aid."

The current suggestion is for formal association of the United States and Canada with a new organization encompassing what are now the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and the European Payments Union.

Japan would be brought in as an associate member.

Limit U. S. Goods

Over and above the strong American emphasis on supporting sound economies in the free world, the United States also has an important selfish interest. A good many of the countries, while realizing that it is not a healthy long-term attitude, have felt themselves forced to limit imports from the United States because of their inability to collect enough dollars to pay for it.

The nations have several times seemed on the verge of currency convertibility, but have never quite made it. All sorts of proposals have been made, frequently revolving around American willingness to express confidence in the other nations by taking payments in foreign currency. This has been applied, in a relatively small way, under circumstances where the funds could be used to pay American expenses abroad.

I have just had from Robert K. Pepper, news editor of the Fort Myers (Fla.) News-Press a suggestion that the United States might expand this process by using funds saved by reduction in defense expenditures. It's an interesting thought, though it would have to be weighed against the underlying purposes of the defense cuts, which is to insure that taxes will not interfere with America's own dynamic economy.

The administration program for liberalization of trade arrangements goes part of the way toward the objectives outlined by the planning researchers, a non-profit group without official standing. The group's report, however, says this is not enough.

In general, the idea would establish an economic parallel for NATO's military arrangements, two things which experts on both sides of the ocean agree must go hand in hand.

If it were adopted—and the administration is much interested—it would also have great political portents for the future, for it would produce, as it has produced in Europe, a movement for a political parallel.

Chief Warrant Officer Shore Retires From Army Service; Property Officer At Depot

A FAREWELL BUFFET dinner honoring Chief Warrant Officer Allen W. Shore, retiring Tobyhanna Signal Depot property officer was attended by about 100 military and civilian personnel and their wives last night at "The Normandie," on Route 502.

Mr. Shore, who is retiring from active duty after 30 years service, was presented a silver plaque and a set of luggage. The plaque was presented by Maj. Joseph E. Brown, executive officer of the depot and the luggage by Gertrude Ushinski, secretary at the depot.

The principal speaker, Lt. Col. Bob H. Glover, deputy commanding officer of the depot, lauded Mr. Shore for his distinguished record. Col. Glover was presented by George DePalma, general supply supervisor at the depot in his role as master of ceremonies. Mr. Shore made a brief address thanking his fellow workers for the dinner and for the gifts.

Mr. Shore, a native of Blue River, Wis., attended grade and high school there. He enlisted as a private in the 19th Infantry Regiment on Jan. 10, 1924 and quickly earned promotion to master sergeant in the Headquarters Company, 19th Infantry. On May 21, 1943, Mr. Shore was promoted to warrant officer, junior grade, and on Aug. 30, 1950 to chief warrant officer, the grade which he holds at retirement.

During his long career, Mr. Shore has served in many parts of the world, including the Central and Southwest Pacific during World War II and the Army of Occupation in Europe in 1950-1953.

Mr. Shore reported for duty at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot on Aug. 28, 1953 as chief of the Maintenance Division Supply Branch. He served in the Depot Property Office at the depot from Aug. 2, 1954 until the time of his retirement.

Mr. Shore's decorations include the American Campaign Medal; American Defense Service Medal; World War II Victory Medal; Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal; Combat Infantry Badge; five overseas bars; Army of Occupation (Germany) Medal; the Bronze Star and the Army Commendation Ribbon.

Mr. Shore and his wife, the for-

Strong Demand For Shares Lifts Prices

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Strong demand for a wide range of issues today sent the stock market ahead substantially.

Steels and aluminum shares were strong throughout the day, as they were yesterday, and their gains were among the best.

Just before the close, the air-crafts came to life with a higher rush as recommendations were made in Washington for stepped up warplane production to meet defense needs.

Also higher as a group were copper, chemicals, oils, and the railroads which produced excellent gains.

Stock Average Up

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.20 at $165.00. It was the third straight advance for the average which now stands only $3.00 away from the record peak touched April 26.

The industrial component of the average today was up $1.60 and the railroads were ahead $1.50 while the utilities backed down 10 cents.

The market wasn't too broad with 1,192 individual issues traded of which 619 advanced and 325 declined. Seventy-two issues touched new highs for the year while 12 new lows were recorded.

Volume expanded on the rise to 2,260,000 shares. That compares with 2,100,000 shares traded yesterday and only 1,650,000 the previous day.

The American Stock Exchange was unchanged to higher on volume of 910,000 shares as compared with 980,000 shares traded yesterday.

The bond market was irregularly higher. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were steady.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, MAY 27
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Good influences favor abroad, businesslike moves. Planetary conditions are also advantageous for trades, real estate, merchandising, mining, labor. Be adaptable, eager to work.
April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — The most stimulating period in several days. Allocate your activities so that you cover important issues first. Forge ahead with confidence and forget minor personal affairs for the present.
May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Especially propitious days for matters concerning home and loved ones. Don't allow material gains or outside interests to spoil this day. Build for the tomorrow.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Some awkward situation may tend to discourage you; don't let it! It's temporary. Be sympathetic but be alert, too. Those seeking gains are not always inspired by good motives.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You may find new problems, delicate situations to handle. Point up your sunny disposition, promote harmony. Use honest strategy and be extra vigilant where finances, signing papers, loans, etc. are concerned.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Laborious activities in general, shipping, social service work can all advance now. Don't wait; go after the things you know can be handled successfully now. Romance favored.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — There are many good ways of making progress during this attractive period. Promote well planned enterprises, sound deals in selling, building. Seek honest gains for like efforts.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — You may have to slow down a bit, take a second look at situations. Your characteristics put great demand on your energies so exercise sensible restraint, and really relax when tired.
November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Guard against extravagance of money, time, energy, assets. Follow a sound routine, but be ready to accept the unexpected where necessary. A thoughtful attitude will bring happiness, health.
December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn) — Good vibrations for those of you who put forth your best efforts. Remember, too, to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Keep thinking as you progress.
January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius) — Apply suggestions to Capricorn. We all need to indulge in occasional self-analysis, to look both backward and forward in order to get a better perspective.
February 24 to March 23 (Pisces) — Maintain your good spirits, take advantage of even the smallest opportunity and watch your stock rise. Stay on the rational side; enjoy life's true values. You seldom forget the less fortunate—a great gift.
NOT BORN TODAY are versatile, able to adapt yourself to changing conditions. Rather restless, you may be difficult to understand at times but, living up to your best, you are generous, helpful. Keep developing consistency, ease of action. Don't waste your efforts, thus exhausting your energies. Concentrate on the main issues for all-round good results. Rest, relax at intervals; you seldom do this until you are too tired, then you become aggravated with others. Religion is your balancer, stabilizer.
